FLETCHER BACK IN GAME: Washingtons, who lost a one sided game

The battle for seventh place in the National League is so thrilling that the Chants and Reds played a ten inning tie yesterday. Only uphill work by the Glants averted defeat. The Brooklyns won in St. Louis and tied the Cardinals and the Braves in the standing. The Braves were idle in Chicago, while the Phillies beat the Pirates and improved

The chances are the Reds would have run off with the contest had Herzog consented to leave Schneider on the mound. Schneider held the Giants in check and had the game practically won. Herzog thought he was losing his effectiveness because of the wet ball and took him out in the seventh, ordering Leon Ames to take up the duties. The latter was a bit wild. He passed the first two men up in the eighth. Then he uncorked a wild pitch that brought the Giants up to within a run of their vigorous and plentiful. There was beef

The Yanks have made seven home runs in their last three games. Among those who strained at the leash yesterday while the homers were raining was the well known reveller in quadrunes, R. Slim Caldwell.

The discrete strains was the well three games are considered by the courts here to-day. She defeated Mrs. A. D. Griffin in the final round, 6—0, 6—3. Four double plays were made in the double header, two by each side, which wasn't so unusual as that all four were of 68 and 63. Quigley called a game between the Giants and Braves in Boston, when, according to a magnate who was there, there was an hour more of daylight. Now he is criticised for calling the Reis-Dodgers game in the fourteenth inning when there was light enough for another round or two. Among the potential victims of the pas-sion for creating titles is Leading Bats-man of the American League Maker of Base Hits Receiver of Gifts Cobb.

We can't imagine who is meant when a certain team is suspected of stealing opponents' signs on Certain Team's home held, but the White Sox are slapping the built vindictively and offtimes while away from home. This Fournier party, as well as the Messrs. Collins, don't need anybody's signs. Prospect Park Baseball Results.
